The company produces high-power products, which are intended for movement on highways and very popular among professional bikers. The Harley-Davidson brand has become one of the most recognizable worldwide. Harley-Davidson has created a whole community of fans of this motorcycle technology, which has more than a million people. The story of Harley-Davidson began in 1904 when friends Arthur Davidson and William Harley created their first motorcycle model in a small workshop. It was completely manual work, which had no analogues. Over time, a motorcycle assembly line factory began to be built on the site of the workshop. In 1903, an engine with a capacity of 400 cc was installed on a prototype of a modern motorcycle. This model is still kept in the company's history museum. Until 1906, the company had already released more than 50 models of equipment. The company's turnover grew rapidly and did not fade even during the crisis. By 1950, Harley-Davidson motorcycles became the favorite biker models. World-famous female racer Bessie Stringfield traveled on a motorcycle almost all of the United States, which also served as a good advertisement for the company. In 1984, the company began developing heavy equipment and launched the world's first engine with a volume of over 1300 cc. In the early 2000s, Harley-Davidson opened new plants in the United States and modernized the line of tourist motor vehicles. The introduction of new production stages and design solutions positively influenced the success of the company. In 2013, the company released a record model with a combined type of cooling and maximum technology, which became a real dream of all professional bikers. Currently, the company is testing new models of eco-motor vehicles based on electric type engines, which are also due to enter production in the near future.
