Complimentary photo: NeONBRAND/Unsplash Let's say it — as soon as someone wants to listen to flight attendants on a plane. If it's the security announcements on the fly, it's boring. If it's an emergency announcement, it's terrifying. None of these were optimal to be, so what can you do? A sense of humor goes a long time in making boring situations tolerable and terrifying situations manageable. These flight attendants keep us laughing despite the challenges of modern air travel. Maybe we'd all leave fewer things behind the planes if we knew they'd end up getting fucked up on the black market. When landing, an airline assistant was heard, "Please feel free to leave behind any of your items in the compartment of the head; I'm having a construction site sale this weekend." Complimentary photo: Michal Parzuchowski/Unsplash The next time you see your luggage, neck cushions or vodka without duty in someone's front yard, you'll know where they come from. Maybe if you work something with the flight attendant, you can get a cut! After a particularly rough landing, a flight attendant stopped: Ladies and gentlemen, we just attacked Los Angeles. After baggage was thrown asunder throughout the cabin, alcohol wasted on your holiday clothes, whispered your prayers and knuckles whitened...it is always nice to finish on a plentiful laugh. Photo Courtesy: Tim Dennert/Unsplash See? Almost.You died in a terrible fire accident on the track at uncontrollable speed. But you didn't do it, so forget it, and you're soused at the airport bar like the rest of the passengers. Being intimidated by the buttons above you in the seats is silly. Watch the pilots — —Have hundreds of buttons to deal with. You have only a few small buttons over the seat, and none of them influences the operation of the plane. At least that's what we are told. Photo of courtesy: Flanker / Wikimedia Commons but not so fast. A flight attendant said this: "The yellow button is your reading light. Please do not press the orange button unless it is absolutely necessary. The orange button is the ejector seat button." I hope you waited for those instructions! It is unlikely that anyone who has ever dreamed of having children really thought through all the details. Of course, those guys seem to complete the idyllic family life, but it was before you locked you in a metal cylinder with them that drives through the air to play. Photo of courtesy: Steven Thompson / Unsplash A flight escort has heard of asking a question for the ages: "For those of you who travel with your children - why? And for those of you traveling with two of your children, What in the world did you think?" Flight attendants come with creative means of getting all passengers outside the plane as soon as possible. They are scheduled and have no time for Dawdlers. Photo of courtesy: Bambi Run / Unsplash You only can imagine the passenger escape that rush when a flight attendant announced, "Last One Off the Plane Must Clean IT". They are joking, right? They have specialized detergents teams for this, right? Better to push some children and old out of road just to be sure. The Southwest Airlines Marty Cobb flight attendant has published a viral video of itself by performing a comic version of the safety instructions. He started with "Lord and gentlemen, can I have your attention for a few moments? My ex-husband, my new boyfriend and their divorce lawyer will show the security features." Photo of courtesy: Calle Macarone / Unsplash of course, was joking. Or maybe it was only half crazy. In any case, you could have collected other phone numbers on that flight. But be careful, guys, he is a man he eats, and you could end up on YouTube. The Viral Marty Cobb flight assistant star had some more jokes on him, touching how the airlines love nickel and passengers for services. During the demonstration of security in flight with the oxygen mask, he announced: "To activate the flow of oxygen, just enter 75 cents for the first minute." Photo Courtesy: Travel + Leisure / Twitter Well, it's reasonable. Things like boxes of snacks, liquors, wi-fi in flight and oxygen are all extra. Wait up. Do not worry. As long as you have a small or medium-sized backpack full of quarters, you will only be fine. There was a day when passengers could smoke in the passenger cabins of the planes, but those days Go for a long time. However, some passengers still need a little gentle reminder. Photo of courtesy: Anisa Mehdi / Twitter so as not to put a point on it too well, a flight attendant announced, "there is no smoke in in cabin on this flight. There is also smoke in the toilets. If we see a smoke from a bathroom, we'll assume you're on fire and take you out. This is a free service we provide. "There's nothing like a little slow and shaking an airplane to get the blood flowing again. Panic is usually the first reaction of passengers, followed by a Grip death on the armrests and downing of any liquor at hand. It's not nice, and it can't end soon enough. Photo Cortesy: Sulyeon Choi / Unsplash Volo Assistants know this and often try to disarm the situation with humor. During a nasty turbulence spell, an insured flight attendant to passengers ", it is not necessary to be alarmed. This only the sound of baggage is expelled from the plane. "Someone really stopped thinking that the reggia in a plane and flying across the country is something our ancestors would think crazy? That nothing separates from the earth thousands of meters from a thin sheet of metal? In case they can be forgotten, a flight attendant reminded passengers, "thanks to fly with us today. And the next time you get the mad desire to greet the skies in a pressurized metal tube, we hope we think of Airways. "It is good to know that when something goes wrong on a plane, flight attendants and the crew tries to get out of their way to fix it. It does not always work, but at least they put some effort. Complimentary photo: Today online / Twitter Riffing on traditional customer service speels, an insured passenger flight assistant who had been waiting a long time at the gate, "We apologize for the delay people, but the car that breaks your luggage is broken. We wish you out of the plane as soon as we break by hand. "Nature has a way to ensure the survival of your genes. If you have many children, congratulations! He will take care of you when he takes care of you when you've grown old. As long as you take care of them right now - that could be difficult, depending on the flight you book. Complimentary photo: Wong man/case untrothed at point? A flight attendant underlined the following Safety demonstration: "If you are travelling with two or more children, take a moment to decide which one is your favorite. Help that first, and then work down. "Although experienced flyers know what all the buttons do over the seat, there are always some neophytes that might not. Flight attendants are there to help get those captured rookies. Ethan Hu / Unsplash as Southwest Airlines Flight attendant Jeff Simpson once explained, "we dive the lights in the cabin. Push the light bulb button will attract reading light. However, pushing the Attentator button does not turn on yourflight. "Thanks to the bontà for that. Nobody never wants to imagine what happens" In the event of water landing ", Yes, you're six There are precautions, but it hopes that this does not happen to you. It is not a euphemism that you want to feel associated with aircraft. Photo Courtesy: Tom Podolec Aviation / Twitter A Flight Assistant of Southwest Airlines highlighted the darkness of imagining the worst and transformed it into a party: A «In case of landing in water, the lower pillows of the Seat can be used as floating devices. Only Kick-Paddle, Kick-Paddle up to the shore. We will ensure you to follow you with alcohol. This also applies to flight attendants, which seem to hinder the fact that these frequent flyers spend a lot. Photo Courtesy: Zach Honig / Twitter A flight attendant said: A «Thank you for flying Delta Business Express. We hope you enjoyed giving us the activity as much as we liked to take a ride. "The take-off speed for an average commercial plane is about 150 miles at the hour. It's faster than a car, and you're doing it on a gigantic jetlin that weighs about 60 tons. Those engines must do overtime to make you fly. If you stop and think about what you need, you realize that it's rather impressive. As a south-west flight attendant: A «Laced the seat belts. We are going to go so fast we will want. "It's a kind of modern miracle, then fastened the belts! The food of the airplanes has been the subject of jokes for decades. And right! But to be honest, not all airlines serve horrible food, and if you're in first class, your experience is very different. That said, for most of all meals are simply terrible. Photo Courtesy: Free to use Sounds / Unsplash Flight attendants know, and in one of their ads they used it as a threat: A «Stay sitting until the plane does not stop completely to the gate. Anyone who stands standing fed by the strength of another meal. We all know that smoking hurts us, yet millions of people still light up every day. Generations ago, smoking was everywhere: restaurants, planes, bars, hotels. Currently in most places, smoking is limited to external spaces or within your own home. Photo Courtesy: Mike Brinker / Twitter Over the years à € " 90, there has been another great boost to use public service announcements to stop people from smoking. A passenger of United Airlines at the age remember to have heard an announce flight attendant: A «... and when you enter the terminal, remember not smoking ... for the rest of your life. " All those who have Taken the plane viewed security, so it's not that you lose something if you move away, except when flight attendants start to mess up your head. The In particular, it is known for having inserted humor in security ads, otherwise dried and canned, that the Federal Aviation Administration Administration Compulsory. Photo Courtesy: @FAANews/Twitter It's when you're missing the zone that they can slip into the stealth joke. During the presentation of the oxygen mask, a flight attendant joked: "Even if the plastic bag can't inflate, you're getting a lot of gin".The flight attendants working on the shuttle between Los Angeles and Las Vegas definitely saw it all. The contrast between the "We'll all get rich!" The energy on the way to Las Vegas couldn't be more different than the "we're drunk and broke" atmosphere on the way home. The reality is pretty harsh. Photo Courtesy: Tour America/Twitter As a passenger was returning to Los Angeles from Las Vegas, he heard the flight attendant say, "Ladies and gentlemen, I hope you enjoyed our short flight from Las Vegas. As a friendly reminder, please put your wedding rings back on.À" Let's face it. Flying isn't the ideal situation for anyone, unless you're in first class or business class, but even all these comforts can't compensate for being trapped in a tin jar with dozens of people flying at inscrutable speeds. Photo Courtesy: Popular Science/Twitter However, with the right mindset, you can at least enjoy a drink, watch a movie, listen to music or take a nap to pass the time. A flight attendant encouraged the passengers to find their inner Zen: "Sit and relax, or sit and be tense, either way".This joke was so popular that for a while it made the regular rounds of security announcements aboard the Southwest. It's hard to take a potentially lethal situation lightly, but it's not hard to recognize the ridiculous fashion phrase that makes a life jacket. Photo Courtesy: @SweptWingMonkey/Twitter If you're going to make humor on the gallows, you might even get a little silly with it. As many of the Southwest's flight attendants say, "You'll notice that in the unlikely event that the captain lands next to a hot tub, everyone will have their own tiny yellow bikinis". The urge for serious smokers to start puffing on a flight is real. It's the power of nicotine addiction. But unless you're a time traveler from the 1960s, everyone knows you can't light up a plane. Between jet fuel and Bammable padding, it's a miracle smoking was ever allowed. Photo Courtesy: Andrew Neel/Unsplash This windy warning was heard during a Southwest flight. "Ladies and gentlemen, if you want to smoke, the smoking section of this airplane is on the wing and if you can turn it on, you can smoke it".Most people would like to think about staying calm in a situation of emergency, but reality dictates otherwise. In the event of an emergency landing, the largest and strongest among the passengers could collapse, while the smallest and shyest be foolish and calm. This is why it is important to listen to during the safety demonstration on exits. Photo Courtesy: Yahoo Finance/Twitter As a flight attendant underlined, "There may be 50 ways to leave your lover, but there are only four ways to get out of the cityAirplane. "Remember, and take notes. The elderly generations remember that flying used with all kinds of advantages that were free with your box. Meals were much more extravagant. It was not necessary to pay more for hand luggage. Usually you could get at least a bozic drink for free. Photo of courtesy: NBC News / Twitter These days are lucky if you can get some extra cheese and crackers for less than $ 15. But you still have some things for free. An assistant flight of mentality for the customer recalled to passengers, "keep the seat belts fixed and enjoy our free turbulence." Sometimes it is more powerful to work with passenger impulses instead of against them. Flight attendants know Those strange 20 minutes starting from lands and when it comes to a whole stop. This is when every passenger on the plane is the bit sample to stand up, lengthen and go out. Court photo Both: Arthur Edelman / Unsplash Once a particular flight landed in London, The FL approachists announced: "We are currently recruiting people to clean the plane. If you want to volunteer, please stand before stopping. "There is nothing more refreshing than an airline that takes the complete responsibility for any and all the problems related to customer service. Well, there is a more refreshing thing: an airline that does not take too seriously And use humor to defuse the problems. For some reason, it is easier to trust someone who is fun on a rigid stuffed shirt. Photo of courtesy: Jacky Watt / Unsplash One Chipper said a south-west flight attendant "Thank you for choosing Southwest Airlines for your flight today. If you had problems with this flight, remember you were riding with Delta. "I understand? Delta. The fines are steep to behave badly on the planes. The sanctions are high for smoking, because, you know, open flames and flammable do not mix. And you can't get that cigarette smoke from the recirculated air. Photo of courtesy: Kristaps Solins / Unsping During security demonstration, a flight attendant has clearly announced announcement: "Smoking is not allowed, not even in the bathrooms. Don't be bad in our potty. If you do it is a $ 2,000 fine, and if you've had that kind of money you are flying united instead of the southwest. "After the complete presentation on the use of the oxygen mask in the event of an emergency, he added a south-western flight attendant Marty Cobb? And be honest, only those who paid $ 49.99 extra get any extra oxygen." Photo of courtesy: Dennis Sheeran / Twitter The fun (or non-so fun) thing about this is that almost everyone could imagine a future in which people could have to pay in advance for life saving services like oxygen or the jackets of inflatable. Maybe if you just stripped for the floating pillow, you can suck the air from that instead. a plane had such an approximate phoenix landing, even smiling flight attendants could not help comment. you have to ask if they have thesewritten in advance. If they don't, most flight attendants might have a future in the comedy circuit. photo courtesy: wikimedia commons a passenger remembers that they reacted to arm: "Lords and gentlemen, please stay at your seats until the crash captain and crew have stopped the plane against the gate. and, once the smoke of the tires has been unfailed and the alarm bells will be silenced, we will open the door and you can choose the road between the scraps to the terminal.» Sometimes it is better when they do not pretend that everything goes well.
