What was once the western United States is now home to the Republic, a nation perpetually at war with its neighbors. Born into an elite family in one of the Republic's wealthiest districts, fifteen-year-old June is a prodigy being groomed for success in the Republic's highest military circles. Born into the slums, fifteen-year-old Day is the country's most wanted criminal. But his motives may not be as malicious as they seem. From very different worlds, June and Day have no reason to cross paths - until the day June's brother, Metias, is murdered and Day becomes the prime suspect. Caught in the ultimate game of cat and mouse, Day is in a race for his family's survival, while June seeks to avenge Metias's death. But in a shocking turn of events, the two uncover the truth of what has really brought them together, and the sinister lengths their country will go to keep its secrets. I have a friend who recently lost her sight from a brain injury that damaged her optic nerve, causing her now to be legally blind. She loved to read books, something she now finds a challenge. But it is because of her that I thought of this idea. I want to make a channel that makes books easier for people with reading disabilities (mental, blind, etc) to be able to experience books in the way we can. Through this creative way, I hope to make books fun for those who find reading difficult. Okay, that is enough about me and my idea, here is what we are going to be doing: This book was picked out by my friend as the first book to do. This book is called Legend and it was written by Marie Lu. It is a story that follows two young characters, June and Day in a world set far into the future. June is the Republic's prodigy and Day is a wanted criminal, after the death of her brother June is sent out to look for Day and finally put an end to his rain. But what if he isn't as bad as everyone makes him out to be? And long story short, everything June has been taught is a lie, and she ends up falling for Day. (I know this is a horrible explanation if you would like a better description to check out this page: I need two things for this project and I will split this up so if you are only interested in doing one or the other, you can skip to either part. Editors: Yes, I will need voice editors for this project, and if you get chosen this won't be a one time job (unless you want it to be) like I said I plan on making this a big channel so I will probably have a couple different projects going on at once. After this project, if I feel like I can trust you I will assign you to your own project to take care of recordings, and edit the voices. I will only start you out though with just doing half of this, we will be splitting the work just so I can see if you are reliable and able to figure your way properly around the program in placing things correctly. After this project though, if I feel you are very reliable, I will give you a specific project that you can work on yourself. I will handle just the script and some of the casting (you, of course, will also have a say). And you can basically run your own, that way I can have two projects working at once.What I need from you to be considered for Editor: ~You need to know how to run Audacity or any other popular editing software. ~There will be an audition open just for you, please make it public to be considered, in the comments link a piece of work that you've edited, or if you don't have a like, please place it in the last file that I'll leave open for you to use. ~If I comment on your audition saying I choice you please contact the email above, ONLY CONTACT THE EMAIL IF YOU GET CHOSEN. ~I might be choosing more than one person, so if you see someone already has a comment, still feel free to leave a submission, I need all the help I can get. ^.^ Actors/Actresses: There are TWO narrators in this book and they are the characters Day and June, I need those people to be people who will be reliable, and have their parts in on time, this will be a long project for you seeing as they are the main characters and they are in the 3 books that I plan on doing. Then we have what I'm going to classify as Extras in the auditions below, they are going to be any part that is minor, they can range from a random Nurse to a character that doesn't have a lot of lines in the first book but comes back to be a main in the second book. That is the way I choose to do it if I think that you will fit one of the more wordier characters in the book, I will ask you to shot me an email, and I will send you some more lines to test you on. For example, if I think that your voice is what I want for a character named Kaede, (the character I was talking about earlier), I will ask you to shot me an email, I'll send you a couple of lines, you send me back what you can do. JUST BECAUSE IT SAYS EXTRA DOESN'T MEAN THAT IT IS A SMALL PART, it just means I don't know what voice style I want for the said character and am waiting to see what voice I might hear that puts me in mind of that character. Rules: ~IF YOU TRY OUT FOR A MAIN YOU MUST TRY OUT FOR EXTRA. ~Must be reliable, don't even join if you aren't willing to meet deadlines. ~I will leave a comment on everyone's audition, just so I can take a peak when it's decision time and remember what I like as well as if I didn't like something. If I leave some criticism don't take it too hard, it just makes it easier to quickly choice who I really want when the deadlines up. Also, this is how the characters are going to be laid out. I will have the two Main characters (and extra) up to 3 days, then I will add the other main characters that don't narrate, then I will wait until the Main (June and Day) has at least 15 auditions each before casting, then I will cast the other (not extras) when they reach 10 (by themselves). The extras I will cast you as I go. Requirements: ~If you audition for a narrating rule you have to continue acting while narrating, don't make it boring. ~A good mic. (this includes a clear recording with no background noise.) ~A skype, and a Gmail. ~Have to be okay with me asking you to do more lines. ~Be patient if I reach 15 auditions for say Day, and I still don't believe I found the one I'm looking for, don't be in the comments of this group and write "when are we going to know? I think you have enough." Nothing irritates me more than that. Just don't do it, I will cast when I'm ready. *Also I might be taking a part in this just because it is my first project and I'm really excited about it. It wont probably be a big part so don't really worry to much about it since I probably wont list the character I want. ALRIGHT HAPPY AUDITIONING.
