220 persons with SZ (DSM-5) and their caregivers seeking treatment between November 2016 and March 2018 at the tertiary care outpatient department of psychiatry, were informed about this cross-sectional study.

10 subjects were excluded:
– 5 due to cannabis/alcohol abuse;
– 3 due to seizure disorder;
– 2 due to intellectual disability.

210 subjects were explained about the study by their psychiatrists. Those willing to participate were referred to the researcher for further details.

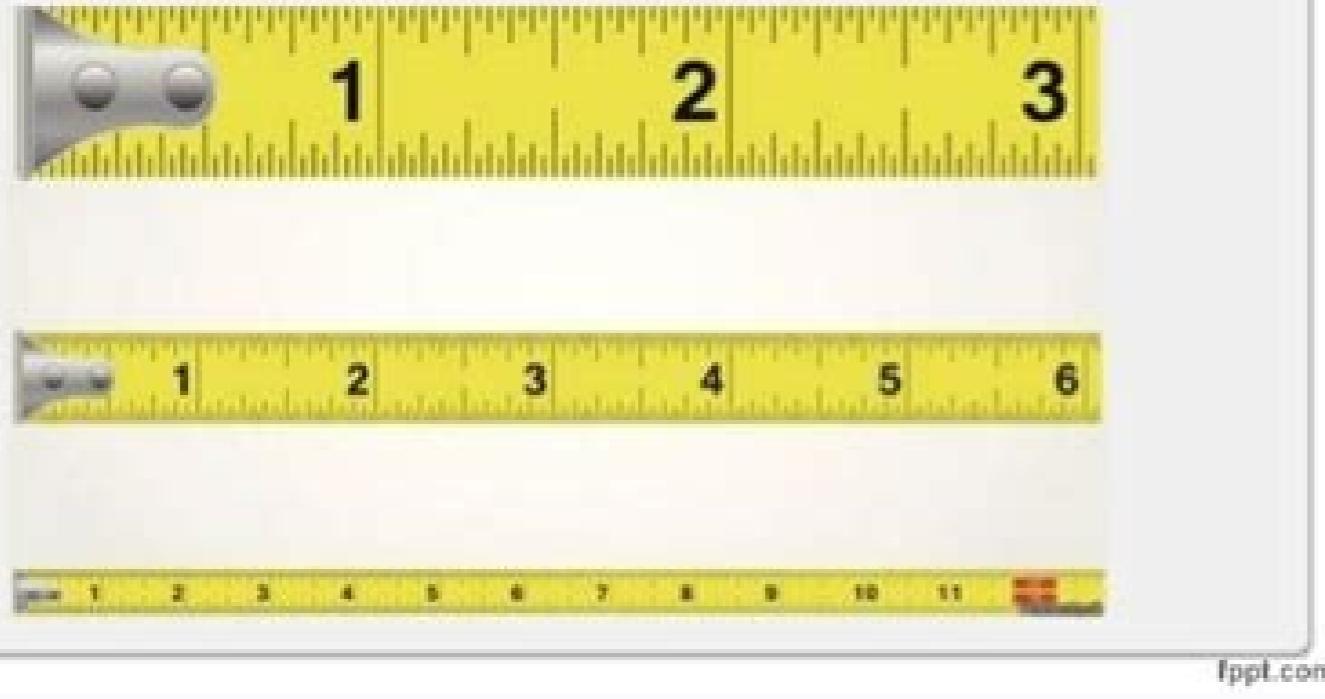

10 subjects refused to give consent due to their personal commitments.

YBOCS was administered to the final sample (N=200) followed by trail making test A and B (TMTs), and WHODAS 2.0.

Two groups were formed on the basis of the YBOCS Score. Group 1 included persons with SZ with OCS (N=37) and group 2 included persons with SZ without OCS (N=163). The non-OCS group was matched with the OCS group on the basis of age, gender and age of onset of SZ to obtain a non-OCS group of 73 subjects for analysis.

The two groups were compared on the basis of TMT and WHODAS 2.0. Spearman's correlation was performed between YBOCS Scores and TMT Scores, YBOCS Scores and WHODAS 2.0 Scores.
