User manual did not state when to perform first oil change, so I assumed 3000 miles. At first oil change lube center said that vehicle was 1 quart low. I didn't think much of it, attributed it to break-in period and so-forth. At second oil change (6000 miles) lube center said that oil did not even show on dip-stick. After draining, they said approx. 3 quarts came out (should be 5 quarts). I contacted Isuzu customer relations and they asked me if I read my user manual. They said that this is absolutely normal for a vehicle to use up to 1 quart of oil every 1000 miles. After hanging up in discust, I called the local dealership. The service guy who answered said and I quote "all new cars use that much oil, it's totally normal". The vehicle displays no signs of leaking or burning oil. What should I do and is this normal? I was wondering if anyone else is having issues with their Torque on Demand systems going into 4WD. The 4WD does not engage at all and the TOD display on my dash blinks at me for about 60 seconds and then the red "CHECK" light starts flashing at me. I know nothing about the TOD system and the 4WD does not engage into 4LOW when I do it manually either...any ideas? Sign In or Register to comment. Trying to find out if I am wasting my time attempting to switch my starter out on my 00 trooper. I have the tools, but am unsure if it would be worth taking to the pro's to do. Is it possible to do? If so, how long will it take? Any recomendations??? Thanks, TroopScoop Home› Isuzu› Isuzu Axiom Are you a current Michigan-based car shopper?
